Save the Earth licenses Cangles for bangles and bracelets

Palm Desert, CA (April 12, 2010) – Save the Earth Foundation has signed a license agreement with Cangles, LLC, a family-owned business that makes handmade recycled one-of-a-kind jewelry utilizing the Save the Earth™ logo and trademarks. Cangles hand crafts these unique eco-friendly bracelets made from recycled aluminium cans. Products are available for consumers to purchase directly from their website at www.CanglesStore.com

“These bangles and cuffs will be an important and exciting addition to our eco-friendly product line”, according to Shannon Rose, one of the four siblings that started the business less than one year ago. Cangles identified Save the Earth Foundation as the cause most like minded to their plans for an ecologically conscious product line, and so a percentage of sales will be donated to the Foundation.

According to Neal Pargman, Founder of The Save the Earth Foundation, “When consumers purchase Save the Earth licensed merchandise, they know that profits will be recycled back into research, and will enjoy the goodwill of doing their part in protecting our world. Cangles is the perfect partner for Save the Earth as they have very conscientiously produced and packaged a truly unique recycled product.”

Synergy Licensing brokered the deal on behalf of their client, Save the Earth Enterprises. Cangles joins fashion apparel licensee Signorelli, the T-shirt company that has built its business by supporting reputable charities and donating a portion of their sales as well.
